

It's empty inside

the surly faggot in the Calvin Klein underwear

ad, but his face
sneaks volumes,

reminding you,
not of your own, but
some other

out in the air that anyone can walk through
and briefly claim.